JETRO covers the service industry and holds a seminar to advance to India. In India, investment in manufacturing industry has been progressing so far, but due to its special business practices and regulations for many years the expansion of Japanese service industry enterprises is sluggish. Meanwhile, in addition to the high population growth rate and stable economic growth, in the future the country may become a promising region as a destination of investment by service industry enterprises. Therefore, in this seminar, in order to present the promisingness of the Indian market and the foothold towards the advancement of service industry enterprises, we explain the overview of the country market and also provide about experiences with Japanese companies invested india. Please take this opportunity by all those interested.
